A ROW OF PRIZE WINNING FESTIVA MAXIMA

Introduction

I am glad of the opportunity of thanking my friends for their liberal patronage the past years, and for the kind words of approval many of them have dropped my way, and I hope by fair dealing to merit their continued patronage, and to such as have not yet tried our stock, I solicit a trial order for which I thank them in advance.

In the following list in which I briefly describe and price the varieties offered I do not wish to make extravagant claims to have better stock than any one else, but having the right soil and climate, and giving proper care and cultivation I get results that are at least as good as the best. It will be seen that my peonies mostly grade 8 and above, or 80 per cent. of a perfect flower. The grading as given in the figures following the names of the peonies and irises is the result of the reports from a large number of the growers who are members of the Peony and Iris Associations respectively, being averaged. This is a great help in making selections, where one wishes to secure high quality. It will be seen that it is not the highest priced varieties that grade the highest, but it is absolute quality that counts. I have abundant faith in the intelligence of my patrons, and therefore do not make up selections for them unless asked to do so, in which case my services and experience are at your command.

Size of Plants. at the prices quoted are for good strong standard divisions of from 3 to 5 eyes, in most cases made from dividing two and three year old plants. I do not recommend the so-called one eye divisions, but to meet a demand for such, I will supply, of any peonies selling for $2.00 or more each, at one-half the list price for standard division. In many varieties these standard divisions will show bloom the first year, but do not expect them to be large. They will be better the following year, and improve for five to ten years. In many kinds I can supply strong 1-year clumps at 25% to 50% above the price of divisions. I exercise extreme care that all plants are true to label, and hold myself in readiness upon satisfactory evidence to replace two for one, either in cash or plants, any that should prove otherwise. If my plants please you tell your friends, if not kindly advise me.

Visitors. I am always glad to welcome visitors to my grounds who may be interested in hardy plants, for one can always select to much better satisfaction in the field from seeing the flowers than from any descriptive catalog, be it ever so elaborate.

Terms: The prices given in this list are net cash, unless otherwise arranged, for stock packed, F. O. B. Greenville, Ohio, and supercede all former lists. If ordered by parcel post any excess postage sent will be returned.

Cultural Directions

Peonies and Irises thrive in most any soil that is not too wet. Should it be inclined to be acid, a light dressing of lime will be beneficial. Never permit fresh manure to come in contact with the roots. Bone-meal is a safe proposition, and well decomposed barnyard manure may be worked around the plants but not over the crown of the plants. Peonies should be planted $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 feet apart, and for field culture rows should be 4 feet apart. The plants should be set so the top buds are 2 to 3 inches below the surface of the soil. Deeper planting may cause shy blooming. September and October are the best months to set peonies, but they may be set any time before the ground freezes. The plants start growth too early to handle well in the spring; we therefore never advise spring setting.

Irises should be planted rather shallow, just covering the rhizome, and both peonies and irises are better planted in the full sunlight away from trees and shrubs and not too close to the walls of a building, although they will endure partial shade. Give good, clean shallow cultivation and you will be rewarded with fine bloom.

This descriptive list with prices should be filed for reference another season, when we may issue a new price-list without the descriptive matter.

Any disinterested party receiving this catalog, by kindly handing it to some friend who may be interested, will confer a double favor.

GLADIOLI

In trying to make the world more beautiful, I know of no better way than to follow the colorful Iris and the gorgeous Peonies with the wonderfully various colored Gladioli. This flower is rapidly growing in popularity and deservedly so: for it has been greatly improved in the last decade, and the end is not yet.

Cultural Directions

Gladioli thrive in most any good garden soil. If it needs enriching, the fertilizer is best applied the season before planting. No fresh manure should ever come in contact with the bulbs. Standard sized bulbs one and one-half inches and up in size, should be covered three and one-half to four inches. Smaller bulbs need not be planted so deeply. Gladiolus bulbs can be shipped in fall after October 25th, or in the spring after March 10th. Dig them after heavy frosts, and after drying in sun or open air for a few days, cut the stems close to the bulb and finish curing them out fully before storing in shallow boxes for the winter in a cool dry cellar, 40° F. being considered the ideal temperature.

They delight in full sunshine; therefore avoid planting in shady places. Cutting the bloom is considered better for the new bulb than to leave them uncut for the reason that if uncut some will form seed which is detrimental to the growth of the new bulb, which forms on top of the old one planted. In cutting bloom, avoid cutting too low, for the more leaves left on the plant the better for the development of the growing bulb.

“Say it with Flowers”

In Eastern lands they talk in flowers,
And tell in a garland their loves and cares
Each blossom that blooms in their garden bowers
On its leaves a mystic language bears.
